EXPERIENCE

Brad Harmon is a partner in HunterMaclean's litigation practice. For more than 20 years, he has helped businesses solve complex challenges and manage risk in fast-moving, regulated, and operationally-sophisticated industries. His work spans business and contract litigation, health care litigation, class action litigation, construction disputes, and fiduciary and shareholder matters. He also advises clients on potential litigation consequences of transactions, contract structures, and operational decisions. Clients value his direct but measured communication style and his ability to cut through complexity to identify what actually matters in a dispute.

Brad has served as outside general counsel to a regional healthcare system, as well as to biofuel and renewable fuel manufacturers. He has led several high-stakes, "bet-the-company" litigation matters, serving as lead trial and appellate counsel in major commercial disputes across a broad range of industries. Earlier in his career, he represented medical providers and trucking companies in defending personal injury lawsuits.

He has held key leadership positions at the Firm, including serving as managing partner from 2016 to 2024, and as a member of the management committee from 2012 to 2024. At age 38, he was the youngest managing partner elected in the Firm's history. In this position, Brad led the HunterMaclean management committee, guided Firm strategy, set long-term vision, and directed Firm operations, while still maintaining a robust law practice. He now uses the skills honed during his Firm leadership to counsel business clients.

His legal expertise has earned him numerous honors, including repeated recognition as a Georgia Trend Magazine Legal Elite, selection to Georgia Super Lawyers, and inclusion in the Best Lawyers in America. He was previously recognized as an "On the Rise" attorney by the Fulton County Daily Report and selected to Georgia Trend Magazine's "40 Under 40."

He is licensed in Georgia and Tennessee. A native of Sevierville, Tennessee, Brad earned his B.A. from the University of Tennessee and his J.D. from Mercer University's Walter F. George School of Law. Outside of work, he is an avid reader and enjoys running and cheering on his son Will at swim meets.
